The increase of population in the Australian Colonies has been remarkably rapid. In 1810 the whole white population in Australia only numbered 3,300. In 1821 it had increased to about 30,000; in 1833, to upwards of 60,000; in 1841, according to the census, to 149,669; and it now numbers (including that of New Zealand) about two millions. Surprising as this increase is, it is, however, equalled, if not surpassed, by the increase of the material wealth of the inhabitants, as indicated by the exports of the Colonies, which were valued during the last year at about £10,000,000, or at the rate of £20 per head of the population, an exceedingly high average, and one which places Australia in the first rank amongst the exporting countries of the world. With less than one-half the population of Canada, the colonies more than double her exports; and with only one-nineteenth the population of the United States, their exports amount to fully one-fourth of those of that country.

It will be observed, however, from the above Tables, that the relative increase of population in the Australian Colonies varies very much:—Tasmania showing an increase during the last decade of 10 per cent.; Victoria of 35; New South Wales of 49; Western Australia of 45; South Australia of 47; New Zealand of 118; and Queensland of 399 per cent.!! upon their respective populations.

ARTICLES OF EXPORT FROM THE DIFFERENT AUSTRALIAN COLONIES.

NEW SOUTH WALES—Gold, copper, tin, coal, wool, tallow, preserved meats.	W. AUSTRALIA—Wool, tallow, timber.
VICTORIA—Gold, wool, tallow, preserved meats.	TASMANIA—Wool, tallow, timber, wheat.
SOUTH AUSTRALIA—Copper, wool, tallow, wheat.	N. ZEALAND—Gold, wool, tallow, timber, Kauri gum, preserved meats.
Queensland—Gold, copper, tin, wool, tallow, timber, rum, sugar, cotton, preserved meats.

THE increasing importance of Warwick as a rising town in the southern part of Queensland (being the terminus of the Southern and Western Railway), and as the centre of a large agricultural and pastoral population, renders it important to business men to advertise in the Press of that town.

HINTS TO FARMING SETTLERS.

SELECTION OF LAND.—In choosing a piece of land that shall be suitable for cultivation, and ultimately become a homestead, the settler will do well to act with considerable caution, as on the choice depends, in a great measure, his and his family's welfare. The following conditions are essential:—That the situation be in close proximity to a good road or some other channel by which the produce may be readily conveyed to the place of sale. This, one would think self-evident necessity, has frequently been lost sight of, and there are farms that in some weathers are all but inaccessible, and whence the expense of carriage will all but absorb the profits of the produce. Again, every precaution should be taken to ascertain if the land be flooded in winter, or subject to such a flow of water as cannot be overcome by reasonable labour; if so, rich as such land may be, it were better at once to reject it than run the speculative chance of having about one average crop one year, and three or four miserable meagre returns in the following years. A natural fall in land is also a great advantage, as it materially helps its proper drainage.

SOIL.—Experience and the research of chemists have demonstrated that the soil from which the greatest results may be expected is that which is richest in humus or decayed vegetable matter; for the simple reason that it contains in greatest profusion the ingredients and constituents necessary to the formation of plants. The banks of rivers, and the flats of valleys at the base of mountains, have long been noted for their exceeding fertility. This soil, however, has occasionally the drawback before spoken of, and heavy and ruinous floods show at what risk the cultivation of such land has to be conducted. Better a poorer soil free from such drawbacks; for, if properly worked, the average returns exceed those of the richer yet more dangerous ground.

THE HOMESTEAD, &c.—Having selected and taken possession of a tract of land, the tedious and laborious work of clearing has to be performed. Prior to commencing this, the site of the future homestead should be decided on. Choose a high part of your selection, in a central portion of the land, provided it be not too far distant from the Government road. Your next care should be the house. Experience has shown that a comfortable home is one of the greatest stimulants and incentives to perseverance that a settler can have. Weatherboard houses are generally found very serviceable, and will last for a considerable time. In some parts of the colony, very substantial houses are formed of a timber framework, the space between the studs being wickered or wattled with tea-tree, or other pliable saplings, which are covered over with plaster made of sand, clay, and lime. These structures are more economical than weatherboard, but take much time in their erection. If neither of these will suit the pocket of the selector, he must fall back on a slab hut, which, with a little trouble, will be found comfortable. The roof can be of bark, which, if it has been properly stripped and dried, will be found impervious to the rain. A building of this character need not cost more than a few pounds, and the architect is not bound to conform to any particular order. Contiguous to the house, space—before and behind—ought to be reserved for a garden and farm and poultry yard. In cutting down the indigenous timber, allow the most shady in the grazing paddocks to remain for the cattle.

CULTIVATION.—Breaking up new soil generally requires a plough of the strongest description, and is best done by bullocks. In the hurry to get seed into the ground, this work is frequently inefficiently performed, while the equally important work of drainage is oftentimes altogether ignored. Virgin soil may, and frequently does, give a good return to the first year; but if a succession of good crops is to be looked for, thorough pulverisation of the soil to a good depth, and a complete system of drainage must be adopted. All new land is more or less “rank;” exposure to the air and underground drainage are the only remedies for this. Drainage is best effected by excavating a main drain at the lowest portion of the ground. Subsidiary drains will have to be formed—some few inches shallower than the main drain or drains. These can be formed according to the resources of the district, of stones, brushwood, or other material; but the layer of stones, &c., ought to be at least a foot in depth, to prevent the liability of choking. The number of drains depends entirely upon the peculiarity of the soil; but a distance of 30 to 40 feet may generally be allowed. To the garden the same remarks also in a measure apply. When the plough is not applicable, the work of subsoiling is done by hand, and is called trenching. "A trench or opening about three feet in width is made along one side of the land by throwing back or removing the soil and subsoil to the depth of at least one spit and a shovelling, which together may be from twelve to fifteen inches; the subsoil is then loosened; upon this loosened subsoil the surface spit of the next trench is thrown, and over it cast the shovelling; the bottom subsoil is then broken up, and so the work proceeds." Trenching is essential if a garden is to be properly cultivated.

SEEDS.—In the choice of seeds, great care should be exercised to prevent disappointment. The respectability of the seedsman is generally a guarantee that the articles he supplies are of good quality.

MANURE.—Plants are composed of the following constituents:—Potash, soda, lime, magnesia, silica, phosphorus, sulphur, iron, and one or two other ingredients. These constituents or food it derives principally from the ground. It therefore follows that for the plant to thrive and grow healthy, it must be able to derive a sufficient supply from nature's treasury: in fact, this chemical food for the plant must be as systematically supplied as food for an animal. It may easily be understood that the bringing of a plant to maturity absorbs more or less of the earthy ingredients spoken of. If the land has not had this deprivation made good, it stands to reason that the second crop will be a poorer one, from the simple fact that the food available for the second crop is considerably less; and a carrying on this process must in time exhaust the land, as has been the case on many of the cotton and tobacco plantations in America, and also in the impoverished ground in several of the older cultivated districts in Australia. Manuring, then, is simply another name for furnishing to the earth those constituents which experience has shown to be necessary to the growth of the plant. Farmyard manure, if properly prepared in heaps by alternate layers of garden soil, is about as fertilising an agent as can be used. Guano, bones, bone-dust, superphosphate of lime, nitrate of potash, nitrate of soda, and sulphate of ammonia, are the best substitutes. Super-phosphate of lime may be made by breaking bones in an earthen or wooden vessel saturating them with boiling water, and then adding about one-third the weight of the bones of oil of vitriol (sulphuric acid). In a week a pasty mass is formed, which can be mixed with ashes, or earth, and used as a compost. The value of manure depends upon its proportions of ammonia, phosphate of lime, and alkalies.

HOW TO TAKE UP LAND.—Land, under the Homestead Regulations, can be acquired in Queensland under very favorable conditions. They are :—Selector to be 21 years of age, or the head, of a family. Assisted and free immigrants must be three years in the country before they can select; others can select at once. The law allows to each selector 80 acres or less of agricultural land, or 160 acres of pastoral land; the price is paid yearly in the form of rent—9d. per acre for agricultural, and 6d. per acre for pastoral land for five years, with personal residence during that time. At the end of five years a title is issued to the homestead selector without further payment.

By the term "agricultural land" is meant soil fit for field cultivation, and possessing the vegetable and mineral constituents necessary for agricultural purposes. What is termed "scrub," usually containing heavy deposits of alluvial soil, very rich vegetable humus, is generally ranked among the best agricultural land; and there is black or brown soil in lightly-timbered country, also rich in vegetable matter, and frequently overlying limestone, which also ranks as agricultural land. These two, and rich alluvial clayey-flat lands, generally upon the coasts, comprise the leading agricultural soils. As "pastoral lands," are ranked soils with more than a fair proportion of sand or siliceous matter, whether heavily timbered or otherwise. Such lands may be well grassed and fit for ordinary cultivation, but they have not the weight or body of first-class soils. For sugar-growing and heavy farming, the first soils are the best; for cotton, fruit-growing, and lighter cultivation, much of the pastoral lands are well fitted. Soils of volcanic formation, red or light brown, are not so profitable for the agriculturists: they are hungry and dry.

Lands which can be taken up under the homestead regulations are open for selection at the land offices, Bowen, Brisbane, Burketown, Dalby, Gladstone, Ipswich, Mackay, Maryborough, Rockhampton, Toowoomba, Townsville, Warwick; so that selections can be made in almost any district. In the offices, plans of the lands are exhibited, and forms of application to be had, and the officers in attendance are generally in a position to explain the nature and quality of the land. No land can be taken up with safety unless gone over and examined. The officer registers the date and hour of the application, ("first come first served" is the rule); the first year's rent of the land is deposited with survey fees.

Land can be taken up specially for growing sugar and coffee, the principal inducements under which systems allow the selector to take up more agricultural land than he could under the last mentioned systems. By the coffee and sugar regulations, the selector is compelled to put one-tenth of his land under cultivation within three years. Occupiers of land paid for with land orders can take up adjoining lands under the Homestead arrangement.

It will be seen that there is absolutely no restriction to the acquirement of land. The conditions are not difficult. To all taking up land we would recommend a careful pursuit of a small work compiled by Mr. Tully, of the Lands Department, upon "The Waste Lands of the Colony," which treats the whole subject fully. It is for sale by booksellers.—A. Mackay.

MINERAL LANDS ACT.—The Mineral Lands Act of 1872 provides for the sale of lands containing minerals other than gold. When a discovery was certain, application should be made for the land as quickly as possible to the Secretary for Lands, or to one of the Agents appointed by him in the various districts. The application must be accompanied by a deposit of 5s. per acre, and survey fees according to the scale in the published regulations, begin at 3s. for one acre, and gradually lessens in rate to £7 4s. for 320 acres. 320 acres is the outside limit of a mineral selection, and not less than 20 acres can be taken up, unless the land has been surveyed in smaller pieces—in which case the surveyed land can be taken up. The selector must furnish as accurate a description of the land as he can.

The lines of unsurveyed land are drawn to the cardinal points, and twice the depth of the frontage must be taken. The price of mineral land is 30s. per acre, and the whole amount must be paid within twelve months after the approval of the application. Failure in this respect entails forfeiture of the selection. When it is certified that £1 per acre has been expended in bonâ fide working the land for minerals, a deed is issued for the same. Two years are allowed for filling this latter condition.

Mineral lands can be leased for 99 years at 5s. per annum per acre rent.
An important feature of the Act is the permission to mine under license. For this purpose reserve areas are proclaimed and set aside, and licenses to mine upon such reserves are issued at 10s. each per annum, which entitles the holder to make on any river, creek, or watercourse a selection one-half chain wide and five chains deep. In other places three square chains are allowed. In the former selections the frontage extends to the middle of the watercourse. In other respects the regulations will conform as closely as possible to the Gold Fields Regulations.

GOLD FIELDS ACT.—The following are the leading features of the Gold Fields Act and Regulations. (See also the book complete, price 2s.) :—

MINERS' RIGHTS are granted for ten years or less at 10s. per annum, entitling each holder to mine and reside on Crown lands, and on this to put up and remove any building; to cut, use, or remove timber, stone, clay, or gravel for residence or mining purposes. The gold of the land leased to be the holders, the interest in which may be assigned or encumbered.

LEASES are also granted for 25 acres or less upon any gold field, two years after its proclamation, for 21 years or less. BUSINESS LICENSES (transferable) are issued for 10 years or less at £4 per annum, for one quarter of an acre or less.

REGULATIONS.—Any miner or party of miners prospecting may mark off and hold a protection area viz :—Beyond the limits of a proclaimed gold field, 400 yards by 400 yards. Within the limits of a proclaimed gold field, and more than three miles from the nearest gold workings, 300 yards by 300 yards; not more than three miles, and more than one mile from such workings, 200 yards by 200 yards; not more than one mile, and more than 400 yards, 150 yards by 150 yards. The foregoing part of this rule refers to prospecting for alluvial of any kind or quartz reefs, but any miner searching for a new reef at any distance not more than 400 yards from any reef being worked may mark off and hold a protection area of 150 yards by 150 yards. All protection areas must be marked at each of the four corners with a post four inches in diameter, standing three feet above ground, set in L trenches three feet long and six inches deep, giving title for seven days; after which they must be registered and renewed monthly. The holder of every protection area shall affix, in writing, on a conspicuous part of the area, the name with the number and date of the miner's right of every such holder or holders, and the date on which the area was taken up, with the date of each renewal of registration, and every such area must be continuously worked every ordinary working day within twenty-four hours after marking, with the full number of miners whose names appear on the notice. All shares not so worked or represented shall be liable to forfeiture.

The holder of any miner's right is entitled to occupy and enclose, for residence, ½-acre, to be marked off in a rectangular block, the frontage of which to any road, creek, or water, shall not exceed 72 ft., defined by pegs, 3 inches in diameter, standing 18 inches up. When the owners of any claim or gold mining leasehold, by the erection of any appliance for drainage, can show that they have effected a saving of labor in adjoining claims or gold-mining leasehold, the owners of adjoining claims or gold-mining leaseholds deriving such benefit shall be liable to pay to the owners of such appliance, such sums of money as may be ordered by the Warden. Any miner or miners who have done six consecutive month's work in any registered claim, which is then not deemed payable, may apply to the Warden, after notice posted on the claim three clear days, to have his or their claim exempted from work for six months or less, for sufficient reasons stated in the notice and in the application to the Warden, upon payment of a fee of ten shillings. Any shareholder in a registered claim desiring to abandon his share or interest, may give to one of the shareholders, and also to the Warden, a notice in writing to that effect, and may post a copy thereof on a conspicuous spot near the working shaft of such claim, and in such case the Warden, after satisfying himself that due notice has been given, shall cancel the registration, and release the shareholder from all further liability.

ORDINARY ALLUVIAL CLAIMS shall be, one man, 50 by 50 feet; two, 100 by 50 feet; three, 150 by 50 feet; four, 200 by 50 feet; and so on for any number of men. Provided that the claim of each party shall be a rectangular block, no side of which shall be less than 50 feet.

IN WET GROUND, when water other than surface water exists, and necessitates slabbing throughout, or in rocky ground requiring blasting for 30 feet in the sinking of the shaft, the sizes shall be, one miner, 50 by 100 feet; two, 100 by 100 feet; three, 150 by 100 feet; four, 200 by 100 feet; and so on in the same proportion for any number of miners. Provided that no side of the claim of more than one miner shall be less than 100 feet.

IN RIVER AND CREEK CLAIMS, 50 feet frontage in the general direction of the course of the stream will be allowed with a width from bank to bank, unless such width shall exceed 100 yards, in which case the excess may be claimed by any other miner.

In any ordinary QUARTZ CLAIM 50 feet shall be allowed along the supposed line of reef, by a width of 400 feet. The width of all quartz claims must be marked off at right angles to the base line, but the whole, or any part of such width, may be marked on either side of such line.

A PUDDLING CLAIM of 100 by 100 feet for each man may be taken up on alluvial ground which has been previously worked and abandoned, or on ground which has been tested and found to be too poor to pay for the ordinary method of working such ground, to be worked in connection with a puddling machine.

GREEN CORN FOR TABLE USE.—Green maize, white or yellow, cooked in one form or other, is coming into favor in country districts. Green corn is one of the most delicious of vegetables. The mode of cooking is to pull the ears while the grain is soft, or in the milk; strip the wrappers from them, and boil the cobs with the grain on. They are easily cooked, and eaten with a little butter and pepper. The following receipts are extracted from the Country Gentleman.

SUCCOTASH is the best known dish. Take two dozen ears of corn still in the milk, cut through each row with a sharp knife, and then cut the corn from the cobs, scraping off the milky part with a knife. Shell one quart of Lima beans—full measure from the pods. Put the beans and the cobs into a deep kettle, and boil for one hour; then remove the cobs and add the corn; having only water enough to cover the cobs and beans when put on to cook. Boil for half an hour; adding more boiling water if it evaporates quickly, but taking care not to make it too watery, nor yet to let it burn on. Season with salt and pepper, and, just before serving, add a teaspoonful of milk and cream mixed, and a good-sized piece of butter. If enough succotash has been prepared for two dinners, as is often desired it is better to take out the quantity required for the next day, before adding the milk and cream, as it is more liable to sour with that addition. If pork is desired as a seasoning, cut it up in small bits and fry to a crisp in the kettle (or in a separate pan), if prepared before putting in the beans and cobs. These crisped bits add a pleasant flavour to the dish. Tender string beans are sometimes used in a succotash instead of Lima or butter beans.

CORN SOUP.—Cut down the middle of each row of corn from twelve ears, and scrape each cob with a knife. Boil the cobs in just water enough to cover them, and season with a teaspoonful of salt and a little pepper. Boil for half-an-hour, then add the corn and boil for another half-hour. Turn in two quarts of sweet milk, boil fifteen minutes more. Stir two tablespoonfuls of butter into two of flour, until well mixed up; add a little water to make it perfectly smooth; mix with the soup, stirring it well. Beat three eggs to a foam and stir rapidly into the soup; serve directly. This is a most delicious soup, and adds greatly to a poor dinner.

CORN PUDDING.—Scrape with a knife two dozen ears of corn, after cutting each row through the middle. Add a pint of rich milk and a quarter of a pound of butter; season with salt and pepper. Whip the white of three eggs to a froth, and beat the yolks thoroughly; stir the latter into the pudding and place the whites upon the top, stirring them slightly in. Bake an hour and a half; serve hot. It makes a nice dish for a hot supper, or a side dish for a dinner.

CORN OYSTERS.—After cutting the corn from three dozen cobs, scrape off the remaining pulp with a knife; put it all into a deep dish, and add six even tablespoonsfuls of sifted flour and four eggs, well beaten; add one tablespoonful of salt; drop in oblong cakes from a tablespoon into a frying pan of boiling hot lard and brown quickly. A more spongy cake is made by adding half a teacupful of sweet cream, or sifting a small teaspoonful of carbonate of soda, or saleratus into the flour. This makes a delicious dish for breakfast, supper, or dinner. Dried sweet corn ground into meal can be used in the same way in the winter. Take one pint of the ground corn, three tablespoonsful of wheat flour, one teacupful of milk, half a cup of sweet cream, and three eggs.

In cooking green corn it should be put into boiling water, and allowed to boil from fifteen to thirty minutes, according to its age. Put no salt into the water; cover with a napkin as soon as removed from the water, for it cools rapidly.—“Cleveland,” in the B. Courier.

THE “WHY” IN COOKERY.—When the flavor of vegetables, such as celery seed, carrots, and turnips, is required, why should they be put into cold and not into boiling water? For the reason that if put into boiling water the whole flavor is retained in the vegetable; but if into cold water, it is drawn out into the water, and it is thus suitable for soup.—Why should plenty of fast-boiling water be used in boiling vegetables, potatoes excepted? Because the greater the body of boiling water the greater the heat. If only a little water be used, the whole affair soon cools, and the vegetables become tough, so that length of boiling will not render them otherwise. Why should two ounces of salt and a bit of washing soda be put into the water to boil greens in? Because the salt crisps the greens and flavors them, and the soda extracts the oil, which is injurious to the digestion.—Why should onions be cut in round and very thin rings? Because the fibre is thus cut across and in so cutting them, whether for frying or making into sauce, they are rendered very tender when cooked. Turnips and carrots just the same. Neither of the three should be split or cut in any other way.—Why should the yolks of eggs and the white be whisked separately? Because the tissues of both can thus be separated, and both are improved by having a teaspoonful of cold water with them.

—Why should calf's heads be boned before boiling and be cooked in boiling water? Because by being first boned the head will roll up, and can be served better and by putting it into boiling water all the gelatine of the flesh is kept in the meat, instead of its being drawn out into the water. Not only must it be put into boiling water, but it must be made to boil up quickly, and then left to simmer gently—if for the half of a small head, two hours and a half, and a longer time in proportion to the size. It should be rolled tightly up and bound in a strong cloth. A little nutmeg grated over the inside before rolling is an improvement. The bone, after having the teeth chopped off, should be boiled with the head, and put in when the water is cold. This enriches the liquor to make soup.—Why is baked meat preferable to meat roasted? It is only preferable, or even tolerable, when baked with the oven slightly open. No opening in any other manner will suffice to carry off the bad air generated by scorched or burnt fat, which sometimes happens in baking meat. The meat should be well larded (plastered) with dripping, then floured, the oven to be very hot—hot enough to scorch. The meat being put in, the latter cools it to a good temperature, and the meat is surrounded by a uniform heat and the juices are kept in the tin. A leg of mutton should be roasted with the knob of fat placed downwards in the baking tin, so that it is prevented from drying up; a sirloin of beef with the fat upwards, so that it continually drips on the lean portions of the beef. All baked meats take twenty minutes to each pound weight.

SNAKE BITES.—From the shortness of the poison fangs in Australian snakes, which seldom exceed one-sixth of an inch, it is not necessary to cut out the flesh to any great depth, still less to chop off fingers or blast the wound with gunpowder. The first thing to be done is to suck the wound well. If the person who sucks out the poison has any scratch on his lips or mouth, he runs some risk; but if there is no such wound he may suck the poison into his mouth with perfect safety. Before swallowing anything, he should wash his mouth with salt and water. The next thing is to stop circulation between the wound and the heart, by tying a bandage tightly round about the limb about an inch above the wound. Then the bitten part should be raised up with a forceps, or in the absence of an instrument, with the finger and thumb, and a piece cut out not larger than a sixpence, nor deeper than one-sixth of an inch. If the flesh is well pulled up, there is no danger of cutting any of the veins or arteries; and the bleeding should be promoted by warm water. As a further precaution when the bleeding ceases, an ipecacuanha poultice may be applied. This treatment should be accompanied by an internal remedy against the prostration of the nervous system caused by the poison. The best means is brandy or other spirits, taken pure, or as strong as the patient can take it. An amount of spirits that would intoxicate, or even destroy a person in ordinary circumstances, will not produce any degree of intoxication after the bite of a poisonous snake. Dr. Berncastle disapproves of the common practice of dragging about a person under the influence of snake poison. Repose, fresh air, and stimulants are appropriate remedies.—Krefft and Berncastle, P.S.P.

To a person under the influence of snake bite, brandy, whiskey, or any other spirit may be given freely—about a wineglass every ten to fifteen minutes—until symptoms of intoxication are manifested.

Example:—A girl ten years of age was bitten by a snake, and during twenty hours before symptoms of intoxication set in, she had drunk over three quarts of good whiskey; she recovered from the intoxication in a few hours, and suffered no more from the effects of the poison.

RECIPES FOR TEMPERANCE DRINKS.

LEMON DRINK.—Two lemons sliced, and quarter-pound of sugar. Pour three quarts of boiling water. When cold, add one quart of cold water.

ESSENCE OF LEMONADE.—Two pounds of loaf sugar; three-quarters of an ounce of citric acid; fifty drops of essence of lemon. Pour two pints of boiling water on the sugar; mix the lemon drops and acid well together in a cup, and when the water is nearly cold, put in the acid—two tablespoonfuls to be mixed with half-a-pint of cold water. This will keep good (corked) for months.

OATMEAL DRINKS.—Used by founders, stokers at furnaces, in ships, and by farm laborers. Boil some oatmeal to a thick paste. As required, take a spoonful of this paste and mix it with about a pint of cold water which has been boiled, or, in cold weather, with hot water.

lately necessary to practice surface watering, let it be done after sundown, and the ground forked up next day. Make a small sowing in a sheltered place of cucumbers, melons, and French beans.

FIELD.—Potatoe planting should be finished early this month. It is also well to begin the planting of maize, as the sooner it is planted the deeper it will root before the warm weather begins. Finish the making of arrowroot, and arrowroot may be planted.

SEPTEMBER.

GARDEN.—Pears and apples may still be grafted. The grape vines will now be pushing, and stakes and trellissing, if not already attended to, should be got into proper repair at once. Galvanised wire, supported on hardwood posts, make a durable and cheap trellis. Attend to the vines as they break, and rub off superfluous shoots from the root and breast of the vine, and tie in young fruiting shoots in good time. White maize (not Tuscorora), if sown occasionally during this and the following months till January, will yield a vegetable, if used green, equal to green peas. Sow hibiscus rosella, make full sowing of French beans, cucumbers, rock and water melons, marrows, pumpkins, tomatoes, and capsicums. Transplant cabbages on favorable occasions. This is one of the driest periods of the year, and it is consequently a good time for the destruction of weeds. If the walks and flower borders get a thorough cleaning just now, they will not give much trouble for some time. A neat verge or border for the walks greatly enhances the appearance of a garden; Euphorbia Bojarea may be suggested as suitable for this purpose; it is easily propagated by division and cutting; is compact in its habit, and may easily be kept in trim: it stands the drought well, and is in flower during the greater part of the year. Dahlias will now be pushing, and should be put up. Fuchsias, also, will be growing fast, and ought to be carefully tended. If no cuttings were struck last month, it may still be done, selecting short-pointed stiff young wood.

FIELD.—Finish maize planting for spring crop. Grow sorghum for green fodder. Plant arrowroot and sweet potatoes, sow cotton, tobacco, &c., hill potatoes. Prune cotton; it is better to prune low—about six inches from the surface of the ground.

OCTOBER.

GARDEN.—Peach trees ought to be well attended to at this season; all young shoots, but more especially the gross ones, should be pruned away. Those who will take this trouble will secure large fruit. The minor enemies of the cultivator will now be manifesting their power. The ground ought to be cleared of the roots of cauliflowers and savoy destroyed by the aphids, but some roots of the cabbage may be left in the ground as they yield a supply of wholesome greens during the summer. The grub may be committing ravages among the potatoes and maize, and the lady-bird among the marrows, cucumbers, and pumpkins; there is no cure for these pests but hand-killing, and it should be done. If the scale is spreading on the orange tree, dress with Gishurst's Compound, or reduced a strong clay to the consistency of cream, and apply it to the affected part; when it dries it will shell off and bring a great deal of the smut and scale with it. The vines will now require constant care; pinch laterals at their third or fourth leaf, and shoots disposed to ramble should be stopped. In tying in, dispose of the foliage so as to shade the fruit. It will be necessary after the middle of this month to keep a sharp look out for that dread scourge of the grape vine, Oidium Tuckerii. If the slightest trace of the disease is discovered, sulphur should at once be applied, either by itself or mixed with any proportion of finely sifted lime up to one half. Sow cucumbers for succession. Plant pineapples and bananas. In the flower garden, sow such annuals as balsams, cockscombs, nasturtiums, and amaranths.

FIELD.—If potatoes are not earthed up, do it at once, and do it carefully, on account of the great heat to which they will be subjected before they are ripe. Plant sweet potatoes, sow cotton, transplant tobacco. Cotton pruning should be finished the first week of this month.

NOVEMBER.

GARDEN.—Intending planters of pineapples and bananas should not allow this month to pass without accomplishing their designs, that they may derive the full benefit of the coming summer. It is time lost to put in these plants in autumn or winter, as they do not start into growth till roused by the heat of the following season. The Isabella, and some other grape vines, will yield a second crop if some of the strong shoots are now cut. In every bud along the cane the embryo flower for the next season is embedded, and if the shoot is cut while the sap is flowing strong in the vine, one or two of the buds next below the cut will burst and, in the case of the Isabella, flower and bear fruit. In most of the other varieties, the flower, not being forward enough, either drops prematurely, or is absorbed into the young shoot. Begin with a few shoots of the Isabella. Attend to the training of the grape vine generally, remove suckers and all barren shoots that will not be wanted for next year, pinch laterals and shoots rambling beyond due bounds. The sulphurings of the last month may have only checked the vine disease; if the weather is moist and warm, great watchfulness will be necessary in order to avert the consequences of a fresh outbreak.

FIELD.—Hay-making should be finished, and the stubble ploughed for winter maize; it is better, however, not to put in the maize seed this month, as the crop will be more heavy and regular if planted in December or January. There are often a great many blind or barren stalks in maize planted in November. Do not let the weeds make any headway among the cotton.

DECEMBER.

GARDEN.—It is a difficult matter to keep up a supply of vegetables during the summer months. French beans and marrows are the most certain, and foresight should be used in adapting the sowing to the probable demand. Marrows, however, may be stored, or consumed by poultry and pigs, so it is better to have plenty. Good crops of pumpkins may be gathered from seed sown early this month. Should a day or two of moist dull weather occur, some cauliflower, cabbage, and celery seeds may be sown. Prolong your grape season by extracting a second crop out of the Isabella. If the Oidium Tuckerii is not yet subdued, the vines may be syringed with the following mixture, as dry sulphur is unsightly on fruit which may in a few days have to go to market or appear on table. The mixture consists of one pound of sublimed sulphur, one pound of fresh-slacked lime, and one gallon of soft water. These are to be boiled for twenty minutes, and then strained. To this liquor add one gallon more water, and boil for twenty minutes longer. It is then to be allowed to cool, and stored away in a jar. When used, mix one pint with ten gallons of water. Apply with a syringe.

FIELD.—Potatoes will now be fit to dig; and the inexperienced farmer should note that out of this crop, which was planted from imported seed, he will have to save seed for his March planting, as imported potatoes fit for seed cannot be had at that season. The best of the small are usually laid aside for that purpose. A valuable addition to the fodder for home consumption may be obtained by cutting the maize tops. They are eagerly eaten by both horses and cows, and should be cut after the tassel on the point of the cob is withered. Plough wheat and out stubbles, and plant maize for winter crop. The great weed season is now approaching, and the best exertions of the farmer should be put forth to keep in advance of them by killing when young.

THE HIGH LANDS OF QUEENSLAND.

The preceding calendar may be relied on for the eastern or coast districts of our colony, but though spring and other seasons occurring simultaneously on both sides of the dividing range permit many of the common operations, such as the preparations of the soil and sowing seeds, to be carried on about the same time, yet the difference of the climate produced by remoteness from the sea and elevation will force the cultivation into a different class of crops. The effects of this change in the climate are decidedly perceptible in the neighborhood of Ipswich. There the banana and the pineapple are no longer paying crops, and the sugar cane will have to be cut annually. There also the peach and other European fruits and vegetables begin to improve and show a decided superiority over those cultivated nearer the coast. As the coast is receded from, the change becomes more marked, till, on crossing the main range, farm and garden assume another aspect, scarcely any of the crops which are cultivated near the coast being seen except maize and oat hay. The chief characteristics of the climate, however, both above and below the range, are much the same; spring and early summer being dry and hot, the latter end of summer and autumn being moist. This moistness of our climate after the height of summer is over, will, throughout the whole of our territory, mark this as the best time for doing what kitchen gardening is to be done, and the intelligent cultivator, by beginning early and continuing to sow a few seeds on favorable opportunities for three or four months, will provide a supply of vegetables for his table which will greatly promote the health and comfort of himself and family.

THE SUGAR CANE IN WEST MORETON.

Having frequently been asked if the sugar cane can be profitably cultivated in West Moreton, an opinion may here be given. The sugar cane may be profitably grown in the district named if the right sorts are selected for planting, the cultivation be thorough and complete, and the crop be taken off at a stated time annually. The following sorts will do for annual cutting:—Chigaca, Malabar Yellow and Green, black Cheribon, Salangore, Bourbon. The Bourbon, however, is a bulky, low-density cane, and a poor ratooner. The Chigaca is a high-density cane, and will pack on a cart as close as gun barrels, and may therefore be carried a considerable way to the mill. It is also a first-rate ratooner. To cultivate for cutting annually, the ground ought to be well broken up and pulverised, the planting to be finished by the middle of October, and the horse and hand hoe ought to be kept going as occasion may require during the summer. This, on fair land, will produce a crop fit to take off about the following August and September, when the ground must be well dressed up to give the ratoons a good start for the next year.—J. J.

TRANSPLANTING.

Many things tend during our dry summer season to dishearten and perplex those unacquainted with its peculiarities. While transplanting, whether the subject be a cabbage plant or a fully-developed tree, many cases in point occur. As a rule, we transplant as little as possible between the months of September and March, but sometimes it must be done, and some people can do it with almost uniform success. This depends to a great extent upon the rapidity of the operation, and if rapidity is impossible, owing to distance of removal, then the roots ought to be rapidly pruned and tightly wrapped up from the influence of the air. I know of no plants the roots of which will stand exposure to the air without a serious check. The tap roots, those strong ones which dip downwards, should always be cut, be it tree or delicate plant. The long tap always dies, but when pruned it throws out a number of shoots, some of which live and establish the plant. The fine roots should be spread out very carefully, and sprinkled with water at the same time. Fine moderately-good soil is always the best for sprinkling amongst the roots of newly-planted trees, and it should be packed in firm. If it can be accomplished, it is a good rule which sets the same part of the tree to the east as it exposed in the spot it was shifted from. Soft plants can be put deeper in the ground than they originally grew; but no plant with firm bark should be put in any deeper. The difference, if any, ought to be the other way, so as to allow for the tree sinking a few inches. But in all cases the tap-root should be pinched or cut.—J. in the Queenslander.

PREPARING SWEET POTATO PLANTS.

In August and September, potatoes are scarce; even if we plant roots in a frame they do not grow freely. Under ordinary circumstances, we cannot get plants at that time; when we do get them the season is far advanced, and with our very best cultivation the crop is late. It is desirable to have early vines, and they can be got during ordinary seasons in two ways:—1st.—Make up a bed of rich earth and rubbish in a dry sheltered place, say against a wall, and protected from the west, or in a thick sheltered banana grove. From the last digging of potatoes—that is, after the weather begins to get cold in June, and the leaves of the vines become dry and pale in color, place a few barrowfuls of vines in the bed already prepared; just throw the vines in a heap, and cover them with hay or grass. They will not rot, unless the season is unusually wet, but from their own heat will shoot out into strong runners upon the first appearance of warm weather. From each runner one or two early plants can be made. The other way is to plant in a corner, such as already described, beds of small potatoes with six or eight inches of the vine adhering; these have then to be loosely covered with soil, and bark placed over all to keep off the rains in winter.—J., in the Queenslander.

THE FRANCHISE.

QUALIFICATION OF ELECTORS.—Every man of the age of twenty-one years, being a natural born or naturalised subject of Her Majesty or legally made a denizen of Queensland shall, subject to the provisions of the Elections Act of 1874, if qualified as in this section is provided and entered on the roll of electors, and if not disqualified or incapacitated for any cause, be entitled to vote at any election of the electoral district in respect of which he shall be so qualified, that is to say—

1. If at the time of making out the list in any electoral district he shall be resident in such district, and during the six months then next preceding shall have resided therein. 2. (a.) If he shall have a freehold estate in possession situate in any electoral district of the clear value of one hundred pounds sterling money above all charges and encumbrances in any way affecting the same of or to which he has been seized or entitled either at law or in equity for at least six calendar months next before the time of making out the list for such district. (b.) Or if he shall be a householder within any electoral district occupying any house warehouse counting house office shop or other building of the clear annual value of ten pounds sterling money and shall have occupied the same for six calendar months next before the time for making out the list for such district. (c.) Or if he shall have a leasehold estate in possession situate within any electoral district of the value of ten pounds sterling money per annum held upon a lease which at the time of making out the list for such district has not less than eighteen months to run. (d.) Or if he shall have a leasehold estate so situate and of such value as aforesaid of which he has been in possession for eighteen months or upwards next before the time of making out such list. (e.) Or if he shall hold and have held for six months previous to the time of making out the list for any electoral district a license from the Government to depasture lands within such district.

No aboriginal native of China or of the South Sea Islands or of Australia or of India shall be entitled to vote except under a freehold qualification. And no elector possessing more than one qualification within the same electoral district shall be thereby entitled to more than one vote at any election for that district.

Where any premises are jointly owned occupied or held on lease within the meaning of the last preceding section by more persons than one, each of such joint owners occupiers or leaseholders shall be entitled to be registered as a voter and to vote in respect of the said premises, in case the value of his individual interest therein separately considered would under the provisions of the said last preceding section entitle such owner occupier or leaseholder to be registered as a voter and to vote.

COLLECTION OF ELECTORAL LISTS.—On or before the 1st day of August in every year the courts of petty sessions of every police district shall appoint a member of the police force to be a collector of electoral lists in and for such district, and also so many assistant collectors being also members of the said force, as such courts may think requisite.

All such collectors shall between the first and the thirty-first day of August in every year make out alphabetical lists of all persons qualified to vote within their respective districts for the election of members of the Assembly.

POSTAL ARRANGEMENTS.

General Rules.

All Letters, Packets, and Newspapers posted in Queensland that are required to be prepaid, must bear Queensland Postage Stamps. Any Letter or Packet posted for delivery in the colony will, if the Postage Stamps thereon be equal in value to its proper postage as a town or country  $\frac{1}{2}$  oz. letter, or 4 oz. packet, be forwarded and charged with double the postage deficient; but if any letter or packet does not bear that amount of postage, it will be opened and returned to the sender.

Any Letter posted for transmission to the United Kingdom will, if bearing at least a single rate of postage, be forwarded and charged with the postage deficient, and a single rate of postage as a fine; but if not bearing a single rate of postage, it will be opened and returned to the sender.

Any Letter or Packet posted for transmission to British Colonies (except the Australian Colonies and New Zealand), and to foreign countries (unless specially mentioned in the Postal Guide, pages 18 to 27), whether sent direct or through the United Kingdom, will invariably be opened and returned to the sender, unless it bears the full amount of postage payable thereon.

A deficiently-stamped letter or packet posted for transmission to any of the Australian colonies or New Zealand will, if bearing at least a single rate of postage, be forwarded and charged with the postage deficient, and a single rate of postage as a fine; but if not bearing a single rate of postage it will be opened and returned to the sender.

LETTERS AND PACKETS, ON BEING RE-DIRECTED, are charged the same amount of postage, in addition to the original postage, as would be payable if such letter or packet were originally posted at the place of re-direction.

A postmaster may refuse to receive or transmit by post any letter, packet, or packet of newspapers exceeding sixteen ounces in weight, or of inconvenient form or dimensions, or containing, or reasonably suspected to contain, any article likely to injure the other contents of the mail bags or any person.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS, &c.—Letters, Packets, and Newspapers, if not claimed, are kept at the Post Office to which they are directed for a period of one month. If not claimed at the expiration of that time they are sent to the Dead Letter Office, and the letters are then advertised in the Government Gazette. Queensland Letters (that is, letters posted within the Colony) if not claimed within one month from the date of such publication, are returned to the writer. Intercolonial Letters (that is, letters posted in any of the Australian Colonies or New Zealand) if not claimed within three months from the date of such publication, are returned unopened to the Colony from which they were received. British and Foreign Letters (that is, letters posted in the United Kingdom, or at any place beyond the Australian Colonies, if not claimed within twelve months from the date of such publication, are returned unopened to the Colony or Country from which they were received.

QUEENSLAND ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.

W. C. CRACKNELL, SUPERINTENDANT.

Regulations.

1. All messages will be held strictly confidential. 2. Messages tendered for transmission must be written in ink, in a legible manner, in plain language, on the proper form, and the address must contain all information necessary to avoid delay and ensure delivery. The signature of the sender will be required, in authentication of each message, and as subscribing to the conditions imposed. To ensure greater accuracy, all amounts must be expressed in words as well as figures. Charge:

will be made for the words only. 3. Payment of all charges in advance will be required, except for replies to interrogatory messages which contain the words "Reply paid for," but in all such cases the interrogatory message must be prepaid. In cases of emergency or distress, special arrangements may be made for the receipt of messages payable by the receiver, if the sender deposits the amount or charges with the transmitting station; in such cases, the word "Collect" must be inserted in the address immediately before the name of the terminal station. This deposit will be returned in full if the receiver pays on delivery. Press reports to be paid for at the receiving station on delivery. 4. The address, signature, name of sending station, and the date, hour, and minute of the deposit of the message, will be transmitted without charge. When the sender wishes to pay for a reply, have the message repeated, or posted, instructions are to be inserted in the address immediately before the name of the terminal station. Intercolonial messages which are addressed beyond the limits of delivery can be posted to their destination free of charge. Messages received for transmission within the colony, can be posted to any address on prepayment of postage, in addition to the ordinary charge for transmission. Senders may have posted messages registered on payment of the additional fee. 5. Messages may be transmitted in "cypher," in the English language, or "secret language," but cypher words must not contain more than three syllables, and words in secret language must not average more than five letters; an additional charge of fifty per cent. to be made for messages containing cypher or secret language. 6. Messages will be transmitted in the order of their reception, unless on the service of the State or matters relating to the administration of justice, in which case precedence may be given. 7. Messages will be delivered free within one mile of the station to which addressed. If beyond that distance, according to the instructions contained in the address. Expenses incurred for portage, cab hire, or boat hire, payable by the receiver, will be charged. 8. The sender or receiver of message, on proving their identity, may receive certified copies of messages on giving the date and paying a fee of one shilling for each copy. 9. In the event of any interruption to communication by which messages may be unusually delayed, it will be optional with the senders, on application before transmission, to withdraw their messages and receive back the amount paid. 10. The originals of messages received, and duplicates of messages issued, will be kept for six months, after the expiration of which period they will be burned in the presence of officers in charge of stations. 11. If desired, messages of consequence can be retransmitted from stations at which received to stations from which originally sent, on payment of an additional half rate; but no responsibility will be undertaken nor any claim for compensation entertained for any errors or mistake in transmission or delay in delivery of messages, whether repeated or unrepeatable, nor for non-transmission or non-delivery of messages, from whatever cause such errors or mistakes in transmission, or delay in transmission of deliver, or non-transmission or non-delivery may arise.

Telegraph stations in Queensland will be open to receive business from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, Sundays excepted. On special occasions, when messages may be received after office hours, an additional charge of fifty per cent. on ordinary rate is to be made. On Sundays officers are in attendance at 9 a.m. for the reception of messages in cases of extreme emergency or necessity.

At country post-towns and railway stations, where no electric telegraph station is opened, postmasters and station masters have been appointed receivers of messages, which they will forward for transmission to the nearest electric telegraph station, by first post. Persons desirous of using this means of communication will hand their message to the postmaster, together with the cost of transmission, twopence for postage, and sixpence for the postmaster's fee. At railway stations, in addition to the usual charges, one shilling for transmission must be paid. Message forms may be obtained on application to any such post office, and the postmaster and station-master will furnish information as to the cost of transmission.

REGULATIONS FOR REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS.

Every Birth must be registered within sixty days, and every death within thirty days, next thereafter respectively; and neglect of this regulation renders the parties liable to a fine not exceeding £10. If sixty days have elapsed from the date of birth, the law requires the parent or other person making the application to register such birth, to pay a fee of two shillings and sixpence, and make a solemn declaration of the facts before a Justice of the Peace, prior to registration. If possible in all cases the father or mother ought to sign as informant. If unable to write, let a mark be made. No Birth can be registered after three years have elapsed from the date thereof.

Every Minister who has celebrated a marriage shall, within one month thereafter, transmit (in accordance with the Act 28 Victoria No. 15) the original certificate to the Registrar of the District, and every Minister who shall fail to transmit the certificate to the District Registrar shall be liable to a fine, not less than £10 and not exceeding £50.

In every case of burial, the Minister or officiating person ought to receive from the undertaker or person having charge of the funeral, a certificate from the District Registrar, certifying the registration of the death—unless in the case of inquest, when a certificate from the Coroner or Magistrate holding the inquest will be sufficient; and if any dead body shall be buried without such certificate, the person who may bury the same, or perform any funeral or religious service for the burial, or who shall in any way dispose of the body, shall forthwith give notice of the facts to the District Registrar.

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING A WILL.

A Will cannot be made in language too simple or concise; it must be written with ink, on paper or parchment, and if contained on one sheet, must be signed at the end by the testator, in the presence of two or more witnesses, and if written on more than one sheet, the testator and the witnesses had better sign each sheet.

The witnesses (b) must rightly comply with every particular required by the Attestation Clause, at the end of which clause they must sign their names (c).

The signature of the testator must be acknowledged by him, in the presence of the witnesses; and, in order that this may be properly done, he must (after having signed the Will) take it in his hand and say, "I acknowledge this to be my last Will and Testament, and request you to witness it." To avoid the evils of intestacy, the following form may suffice as a general guide; but others, properly prepared for filling up and signing, with the various conditions hereinafter described, can generally be procured from respectable stationers:—

WILL.—This is the last Will and Testament of me, _____ of _____ near _____ in the county of _____ After payment of my just debts, funeral and testamentary expenses, I give, devise, and bequeath the same unto (c) _____ also to (b) _____ And to the residue and remainder (d) of all my real and personal Estate, I give, devise, and bequeath the same unto (c) _____ And I hereby appoint (c & c), or the survivor of them, and (c) _____ Executors of this last Will, as witness my hand this _____ of _____ 18 _____

ATTESTATION.—Signed and acknowledged by the said _____ the testator _____ as and for his last Will and Testament, in the presence of us, being present at the same time, who at his request, in his presence, and in the presence of each other, have hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses. _____

Codicil to a Will is to be made with the same regulations as the Will itself, and may be written thus:— This is a codicil to my last Will and Testament, bearing date the _____ day of _____ 18 _____, and which I direct be taken as part thereof. I give, devise, and bequeath, &c. As witness my hand this _____ day _____

Alterations must be avoided; but when made, ought to be signed by the Testator and Witnesses near to alterations, and specially noticed in the Attestation Clause as made before the will was signed.

Marriage after making a Will renders the Will void. If a person wish to dispose of all his property in one gift, the words "all my real and personal estate" may be used. It is not indispensable for a Witness to know the contents of a Will, which may be so folded as to prevent any other part than the Signature and the Attestation Clause being read.

It may be useful to remark that Personal Property left without a Will is devisable as under. If the deceased leave children and no Widow, the whole property is to be divided equally among the Children. If he leave a Widow and Child or Children, the former is entitled to one-third, and the latter to the remaining two-thirds. If he leave a Widow and no Child, the former is entitled to half, and the next of Kin to the remainder as follow:—A Father, the whole amount. If no Father, to Mother, Brothers and Sisters, or their issue, equal portions. If none, Uncles, Aunts, Nephews and Neices, equal portions, &c.

(b) These must be parties not interested in the Will, or their claim to such interest becomes forfeited.

(c) In all cases where a name is given, it is necessary to describe clearly and fully the Christian name, surname, residence, and trade or profession, &c.

(d) The Residue becomes the Property of the next of Kin, unless otherwise provided for.

Mun., August 7, 1863. Assessed in 1874 for £11,240. Pop., 1871, 717, and for 1873, Est. 800. Imports, 1874, £24,378, and exports, £14,440.

The river, which is here about a quarter of a mile wide, is spanned by an elegant and substantial iron bridge, connecting the north and south parts of the city. Brisbane is the natural outlet for the districts of Moreton, Darling Downs, and Maranoa, as well as for parts of the Burnett, Leichhardt, Warrego, and New England, an extent of country unsurpassed in Australia for the richness and variety of its agricultural, mineral, and pastoral resources; and its trade, while it is carried on with Great Britain, the neighbouring colonies, and the northern ports is very considerable and rapidly increasing. It is connected by rail with the principal towns on the Darling Downs, and Parliament has recently authorised an extension of the line to Roma, which will greatly augment the trade of the port. The town is adorned with many handsome edifices, amongst which Government House, the Parliament Houses, St. Stephens' Cathedral, the Town Hall, and Post Office are the most conspicuous, and of late the new banks and business premises erected in the principal street display considerable taste and elegance. Brisbane was erected into a Municipality on September 2, 1859, and the assessed annual value of rateable property in 1873 was £119,407. Imports, 1874, £1,983,662, and Exports, £1,880,420. CLIMATE OF QUEENSLAND.—Experience has shown that the climate of Queensland is not unsuited to the constitutions of Europeans. Although the new comer may find the temperature unpleasantly high in the summer months, it is very seldom that ill effects are experienced from the heat by persons who do not indulge in excesses. During the winter months the weather in Queensland is very fine. The nights and mornings are cool, imparting a considerable degree of chilliness and sometimes cool enough to produce thin ice. In the middle of the day the atmosphere is delightfully clear. The mean temperature of Brisbane and Funchal in Madeira are almost identical. Farther north, at Gladstone, Bowen, and Townsville, the temperature is higher. At Warwick and the other towns to the west, situated on the high lands, the mean temperature is some degrees lower than it is in the coast towns; while at Stanthorpe and the Southern border on the mountain range, the temperature is much lower, and inconvenient to persons on first coming from the eastern coast. It is the opinion of medical men that the climate of Warwick and Toowoomba is not to be surpassed anywhere.

SUNSTROKE.

"J. M. S." writing to the M. Economist says:—After some research I discovered that the injury in Sunstroke came from the chemical ray, and not from the heat ray. I accordingly lined my hat with two linings, one of orange-yellow, and the other of green, and went where the rays of the sun were most intense, with perfect impunity. The orange-yellow arrests the chemical, and the green the heat ray.

MAN AS A SICKLY BEING.

Dr. Black says:—"Those who neither know nor strive to be governed by law in the uses they make of themselves, become victims to hundreds of evils in the forms of disease. And this is why man is the most sickly of beings. Moreover, man has not, like the animal, an intuitive perception to guide him unerringly and upon the instant to his highest good; he has to find out by experimenting, pondering, and proving, what is for his benefit and what is for his harm;" and he has then, we may say in addition, to exercise the essential element of humanity, that of intelligent choice in freedom.

IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.—Never think of making the blood better by putting drugs or poisons into it. Pure water, pure air, and pure food are nature's purifiers. Take of these first what the system can use and no more, and your blood will take care of itself—and of you too. Go to bed with warm feet, an empty stomach, and an unexcited brain. Be sure and keep a clear conscience then shall your sleep be dreamless, and your days long in the land.

INDIGESTION.—Dr. Patterson says a remedy for this with some people after dinner is a glass of, spirits in some form; but he goes on to say, if anyone requires artificial aid for digestion, there is something very far wrong, and what he needs is to begin at his infancy again with simple pure milk, he will not cure himself by the thousand and one remedies that are advertised to cure indigestion. He will only cure himself by taking the simplest food into his stomach, till it gets strong enough to digest that which is stronger; but certainly he may employ all these remedies with greater hope of benefit than he can employ intoxicating drink. It is the worst (being deceptive) of all the remedies,

BANANAS.—This fruit approaches in composition most nearly to rice. It is a most valuable food. About 6½ lbs. of the fruit—or 2 lbs. of it dried into meal—with ¼ lb. of salt meat or fish, form, in tropical America, the daily allowance for a laborer. The simple fruit is sometimes used as bread; it is dried in the oven, and in this state is eaten in the manner of bread. When thus dried, it may be kept for a long time without spoiling, and is usually carried with them in this dried state by the natives when they are proceeding on a long journey. The chemical reason why the unripe fruit is chosen for this purpose is that while unripe the fruit is filled with starch, so that when dried it bears a resemblance to bread both in taste and composition. As the fruit ripens, it changes into sugar, and the fruit becomes sweet. In this state—though more pleasant than when newly pulped—it is less fit for drying or for preserving.

BANANA FRITTERS.—When properly managed, these fritters are very delicious, besides being wholesome and nourishing. The fruit should be thoroughly ripe. Cut into slices; then draw through a thickish batter of flour and milk, to which an egg may be added if desired, and fry in dripping or salad oil—the oil being preferable. The fritters should be slightly browned and very tender; if the fruit has not been ripe and in good condition, they will be hard and tough. Some prefer cooking the fritters in olive oil without batter. We have tried banana pancakes—made by mashing the fruit and beating it up with batter, as described—but the fritters are, to our taste, finer.

TO MAKE MELON JAM.—1. Cut the melon into small pieces. 2. Take out all the seeds. 3. Slice the peel. 4. Boil the pulp and rind half-an-hour. 5. To one pound of melon add a quarter of a pound of sugar. 6. Boil for three-quarters of an hour longer. 7. Let it stand till nearly cold. 8. To 20 lbs. of jam add one ounce of tartaric acid. 9. Add essence of lemon to fancy. 10. Stir up, &c.

order to mix well. When cold it is ready for use, or if it is to be kept, put it into pots, pour a little brandy on the surface, and melted suet on that. It is then in a fit condition for preservation.

GUAVA JELLY is obtained by boiling the guavas with sugar and spices; and after expressing the juice through a cloth, it is left to cool. The jelly is frequently bottled, but oftener it is put into small cylindrical boxes made of laminated pine-board. After the juice has been expressed from the guava, there remain the skin and pulp containing the seeds; the latter is stewed and bottled, and constitutes the stewed guava. This is generally partaken of with milk. The skins are converted into the delicacy termed "quake pear," by a process varying slightly from the foregoing.

GUAVA MARMALADE is made by grating. Of the various preserves, the marmalade is preferred.

CANDIED LEMON OR ORANGE.—Soak the peels in salt and water four or five days. Take out and wash well. Boil in soft water till they are tender. Then make syrup of loaf sugar and water, and boil till they are candied. Add sugar as required. You may regulate the taste, by adding cinnamon, mace, and cloves. When candied dust them with fine sugar.

PEACH JAM.—Take the fruit fully ripe. Peel and stone. Put the peaches in a pan and mash them on the fire till they become hot, then rub through a sieve: to each pound of pulp add a pound of white sugar and half-an-ounce of bitter almonds blanched and pounded. Then put over the fire boil them ten or fifteen minutes, and skim well.

TOMATO HONEY.—To each pound of tomatoes allow the grated peel of a lemon and six fresh peach leaves; boil them slowly till they are all to pieces, then squeeze them through a bag; to each pound of liquid allow a pound of sugar, and the juice of one lemon; boil them together till they

TOMATO PRESERVE.—Select firm green fruit, peel as thinly as possible, and to every pound of fruit add 1 lb. of loaf sugar; boil for an hour and a-half, allow it to cool, tie down, and store away, as with any other preserve. Tomatoes treated in this manner form an excellent preserve, and may be likened to ripe figs, the seeds of the tomatoes bearing out still further the similitude.

MAIZE MEAL.—The use of maize meal as an article of food is becoming general amongst farmers, though not near to the extent it ought to be. The prejudice which had been shewn to the use of it is gradually wearing away, and was most undeserved, as it is not only a wholesome and highly nutritious article of diet, but is even preferable to oatmeal in a warm climate like this, especially during the summer; and being the product of a warm climate, nature indicates that it is suitable food

No farmer should be without a mill for grinding his own maize, which can be purchased for from 50s. upwards; he can then produce a supply of food, not only for himself, but also for his live stock. Hand-fed calves thrive and do well upon it, with a small allowance of milk. We earnestly recommend every farmer to try the experiment, but especially those who are at a distance from market, and to whom the difficulty of getting their supplies is a consideration.

with other supplies from town, and keeping for any length of time. But a fair article can be made with the fat and other materials obtainable in the bush, as the following explains:—1. Take 10 quarts of water, add to it 5 lbs. of quick lime and 6 lbs. common washing soda. Put altogether and boil for half-an-hour, then let it stand all night to clear. Draw off the lye, and add to it 1 lb. common resin and 7 lbs. of fat (any fat will do). Boil this for half-an-hour, then let it stand till cool, and cut (thin wire is best for cutting) into bars. 2. 7 lbs. washing-soda and 7 lbs. lime to be boiled in five gallons water for half-an-hour; when cold pour off the lye, and add 6 lbs. fat and 1½ lb. resin, and boil for about four hours; then pour into some vessel, stirring occasionally during the cooling process. When cold and firm it may be cut up into bars with wire or small strins. 3. 3 lbs. washing-soda, 3 lbs. slacked lime, and 12 quarts of water. This should boil about twenty minutes; let it settle, strain very clear, and add 3 lbs. of fat and 4 ounces of resin; let it boil very slowly for about three hours. Makes from 20 to 24 lbs. soap. 4. Is a system of soap making especially suitable for bush folks. Any sort of ashes will give lye; swamp oak is amongst the best for the purpose. Any sort of tallow or fat will answer. Make a hole at the bottom of a tub or barrel; plug up the hole and nearly fill the barrel with wood ashes; pour in as much water as the tub will hold, and let it stand for three days; then run off the liquor, now called lye, and pour in more water, until three dees of lye are taken from the ashes. Put the first lye into a pot with as much tallow as it can saponify or make soapy, and boil about three hours; then add the second lye, and boil about two hours more; draw off the water and add the third lye, and boil for an hour or so making three boilings of about six hours in all. Draw off all the water, and put the soap in trays or boxes to cool; then get it cut into any desired shape.

and after paying Losses aggregating £436,190, and all Expenses and Dividend to Shareholders, an addition of £167,970 has been made to the Reserve Fund, which now amounts to POLICIES ISSUED AT CURRENT RATES. LOSSES PROMPTLY SETTLED BY THE UNDERSIGNED.

L I F E .

During the year 1873, new Proposals insuring £514,638 have been accepted and completed, and after payment of all Claims, Annuities, and Expenses, the sum of £158,547 has been added to the Life Assurance Funds, which now amount to

£1,761,523 11s. 7d.

The recent Report issued by the Board of Trade shews that of all the English Provincial Life Offices, and of all the Scotch Offices, the ROYAL's ratio of expense to its premium income is "absolutely the lowest," and the tests laid down by the Board of Trade as requisites of a sound and prosperous company are shewn to be entirely satisfied by the ROYAL.

BONUS LAST DECLARED WAS EQUAL TO 7½ PER CENT., for the Quinquennial period, on the sum assured on all policies of two years' standing and upwards.

DIVIDENDS OF PROFITS EVERY FIVE YEARS.

DAYS OF GRACE ALLOWED, WITH THE MOST LIBERAL INTERPRETATION

The Royal has never amalgamated with any other Company. Its prosperity is simply owing to the sound and legitimate business transacted.

The undersigned are authorised to issue policies, and settle claims without further reference.

QUEEN INSURANCE COMPANY.

LIFE AND FIRE.

CHIEF OFFICES: LIVERPOOL.

HEAD OFFICE IN AUSTRALIA: MELBOURNE.

CAPITAL: TWO MILLIONS.

To show their intention of making the Company a safe and successful one,
THE SHAREHOLDERS HAVE PAID UP IN CASH THE IMMENSE SUM OF £178,900.

Although there are upwards of 70 Life Companies registered under the English Acts of 1841 and 1862, only five of them have equally large paid-up capitals with the "Queen."

FIXED SURRENDER VALUES.

Assured, on the Ordinary Whole-Life Scale, who have paid two Years' Premiums and upwards, and who desire to surrender their Policies, may demand a return, at any time thereafter, provided the policy is then in force, of not less than Thirty-five per cent. of the Premiums paid. In some cases, according to the nature and age of the Policy, this surrender value will be over more than the percentage indicated.

INVESTMENT OF FUNDS.

The Company's prospectuses and annual reports show the Funds and Securities of the Company, and how they are invested.

NON-FORFEITURE OF POLICIES BY THE ISSUE OF FREE PAID-UP POLICIES.

If a person, after having assured for three years under the Ordinary Whole-Life Scale at any age up to and inclusive of fifty-five should wish to discontinue paying his Premiums—

THE DIRECTORS WILL ISSUE A POLICY FOR THE FUTURE OF PREMIUMS paid, together with any Bonuses that may have been added, and free from any further payment whatever. This feature secures not only a provision in the event of premature death, but a remedy—very liberal—should the payment of the premiums become an inconvenience.

RATES OF PREMIUM.

The Queen's rates are moderate. First-class lives only take all the premiums mentioned in prospectuses, without addition of any kind. An assurance of £100 can be effected at following cost:—

By a person aged at a quarter of a century less than 10 years, which is equal to about 10 years less.	£	s.	d.
25	0	41	6
30	0	12	11
35	0	15	0
40	0	17	1
45	0	19	6
50	1	3	4
55	1	8	11
60	1	18	2

And is consequently within the reach of every man in Queensland, however poor he may be.

BONUSES.

The profits are calculated and distributed every 5 years, three-fourths of entire profits being allotted to assured under participating tables. The last bonus was declared in 1874, and averaged 10 PER CENT. OF THE PREMIUMS PAID.

REMOVAL TO OTHER PLACES.

The Company having branches or agencies in all civilized parts of the world, policy holders are enabled, should they remove to other countries (United Kingdom, America, &c.)

TO PAY THEIR PREMIUMS AND RECOVER CLAIMS

in such countries, either the delay consequent on communications with offices at a distance. This is a great advantage, and should not be overlooked by intending Assured.
